the Shoals Chair

The Shoals Chair, as beautifully simple as it is practical, is handcrafted from Western Red Cedar, making it a durable and lasting complement to the deck, patio or backyard. The ergonomically designed chair comes in two sections that combine easily to form a comfortable seat, and then simply slide apart for carrying and storage.

It's the perfect beach chair...as light as the ubiquitous aluminum webbed style...yet without the rust! It travels more economically than molded plastic and forms a more substantial seat that won't tip over or blow away. Its clean lines evoke a simpler time imparting an air of romance to outdoor events such as fireworks or concerts under the stars.

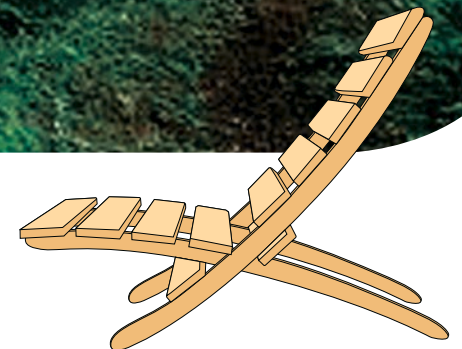

The Shoals Chair combined with its complementary Loveseat is all the furniture an outdoor enthusiast will ever need. A chair for all seasons, the Shoals Chair can also be dressed up with pillows and shawl and spend the winter indoors...in a sunroom or enclosed porch!

DQD

Furniture designed with a simpler life in mind.

For over six years DQD has been producing custom furniture on the North Fork of Long Island, New York... right here in the USA.

We are committed to the highest standards of production, quality and customer service. Our designs, while respecting tradition, have been adapted to today's lifestyle. Created with the user in mind, they are lightweight, sturdy, easy to transport and store when not in use. They are comfortable, ergonomically correct and created for a family on the go, while embodying the clean and minimal lines of historically based furniture.

DQD manufactures furniture the old-fashioned way... by hand and with heart. Using local craftspeople and modern machinery, we make every piece of furniture that we sell. All of our furniture is handcrafted, hand inspected and built to last, virtually maintenance free.

Our materials have been chosen for their durability and affordability: we work in cedar, historically the wood of choice when building near the ocean because it is weather and insect resistant. When left natural it ages to a silvery gray and has graced New England homes for centuries. We use wood that is grown on established tree farms in temperate climates: a renewable resource that does not exploit emerging countries.

Our creations have graced the Christmas windows of Macy's, FAO and Bergdorf. We have supplied outdoor pieces for Horchow and Lillian Vernon. We deliver on time and meet particular standards.

We believe in treating our customers like neighbors and friends. Offering products we use or would use ourselves, we produce them at fair prices, and we believe in them without condition.
